The Dental ID

It's every parent's worst fear, a missing child. As hard as we may try to keep our children safe, the unthinkable can happen. So, what else can parents do to safeguard their children? The Dayton Dental Collaborative is introducing a service that can allow for early location and/or identification of a missing child. This innovative procedure is called Toothprints®. It takes only minutes to do but can bring a lifetime of security.

When properly stored, the toothprint wafer holds three very valuable tools

A simple bite registration, or impression, is taken of the child's upper and lower teeth using a wax-like wafer. Your dental professional places the wafer in a special airtight zip bag. The impression is then turned over to the parent along with some very special instructions.

When properly stored, the toothprint wafer holds three very valuable tools. One of the most individual characteristics in identifying a person is their scent. Secondly, the bite registration, or impression, of the child's bite is an additional method of identification from dental records. Last, and scientifically the most valuable is DNA identification. The impression wafer stores enough DNA to link the wafer to one specific child. In the event DNA identification is necessary, enough data can be extracted from the preserved tooth impression to make a positive identification.

Your New Smile ... A Sneak Preview!

Have you ever wondered what your smile would look like if you whitened or straightened your teeth, or even closed a gap? Imagine how incredible it would be if you could actually see your new smile prior to beginning cosmetic treatment! Now we can fashion your totally new look right before your eyes without even touching your teeth!

How do we do it? It's simple with dental imaging. We take a picture of your smile with a digital camera, and then through Cosmetic Dental Imaging, we work with you to achieve our common goal of your improved, ideal image. Using special computer drawing tools, we can show you different options so that you can make choices and decide exactly what cosmetic dental work you desire to achieve your own perfect smile! We can even print a before and after photo for you to keep and share with your friends and family.
